CORLISS HOTEL WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Racine, Jan. 5.—Telephone advices from the village of Corliss, seven miles west of here, state that a fire early today destroyed the Baldwin hotel, a two-story structure, and a number of smaller buildings. Early indications pointed to a widespread conflagration because of a high wind.

NOTED ECONOMIST WILL SPEAK HERE ON MONEY SUBJECT

Prof. James Laurence Laughlin of University of Illinois Engaged by Commercial Club on Jan. 12.

Through the efforts of the Janesville Industrial and Commercial Club, Prof. James Laurence Laughlin, head of the department of economics in the University of Illinois, and a noted authority on all economic questions, has been engaged to give an address to the public at the city hall assembly room next Friday evening at eight o'clock.

Prof. Laughlin's subject will be concerning the national monetary question which will be one of the important topics for the consideration of Congress at the present session and which is being discussed by scholars, business men, and people in all walks of life.

Believing and knowing that the citizens of Janesville would be interested in hearing an academic treatment of this national problem by a man who is famed as an authority, an invitation was extended to him through the Industrial and Commercial club, and he accepted the same. The address will be free and the public, all interested in the topic to be discussed and the work of the club, are cordially invited.

Prof. Laughlin has written a number of text-books and is the author of many scientific treatises on subjects pertaining to monetary and economic problems. He is the author of "Inflation in the United States," "Facts About Money," "Gold and Silver Since 1873," "Wittnesses About Money," "Principles of Money," "Industrial America," and numerous other works which are part of the best economic literature of the country.

At present Prof. Laughlin is President of the Executive Committee of the National Citizens' League and has been actively engaged in the work of this organization for a number of years. In the last presidential campaign he was many times sought as an expert in judging the plan of the guaranty of bank deposits, and has recently been summoned to Washington as an authority on the tariff.

State Senator Hutton of Sparta, has also been invited to be present at the meeting next Friday evening, but his letter of acceptance has not as yet been received.

TUBERCULOSIS IS CAUSE OF EDGERTON MAN'S DEATH

Frank Zastrow, A Painter, Passed Away At His Home Last Evening—Edgerton News Notes.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Edgerton, Jan. 5.—Frank Zastrow, a painter by trade and a resident of this city for a number of years, having married his wife here, a Miss Grier, some five or six years ago, died last night at his home in the third ward, aged 51. The immediate cause of his death was tuberculosis with which he has been sorely afflicted for six months or more. Although applying at the state sanatorium in Wales for treatment he was pronounced incurable. Besides the wife one little child survives. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the home, Rev. G. K. MacIntosh officiating. Interment will be made in Passett cemetery.

LINK AND PIN EXERT EFFORTS TO MAINTAIN TRAFFIC IN SPITE OF COLD

Chicago & Northwestern.

When the temperature gets down as far below zero as it did last night and this morning the railroad men have their hands full. All of the trains are late today from twenty minutes to three hours and the Chicago trains have to be double-headed in order to keep the cars warm, owing to the difficulty of keeping up steam.

Hard work is experienced by all of the firemen to keep their engines running and it is a difficult task to keep a full head of steam up when the thermometer registers twenty below.

Extra heavy freight service makes the trainmen's jobs especially hard. It was necessary to send out nine trains yesterday and all of the four switch-engines in the yards were kept busy throughout the day. The Pond du Lac train due at 8:45, was about two hours late last night; the first section of 366 was several hours late this morning and all other trains on both roads are behind time.

Although cold weather is most severely felt in the coal-chutes at the yards and these are the first to shut down during zero weather, they are still running and show no signs of being ready to be frozen out yet. Cold was more severely felt in the roundhouse this morning than it has been this year and the unheated portions were uninhabitable for the men.

The men out on the cars report tracks where the wind has a free chance to whip around them were forced to quit busy today, and even thoughts of the cold roundhouse appeared like the pictures of Florida to an arctic explorer. Porty's next party on the dash to the North Pole should contain at least a dozen railroad men after a few weeks' of weather like this.

MISSING MAN TURNED UP LATE YESTERDAY

Joseph Page Returned Home at Four O'Clock in Afternoon—Refuses to Explain.

Joseph Page, the elderly man who suddenly disappeared from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Connors, 319 North Academy street, Wednesday evening, returned about four o'clock yesterday afternoon. He did not appear to have suffered to any extent from exposure and had probably not been out of doors much. He refused to answer the questions of his children as to where he had spent the night or give any account of his absence.

JUDA MAN OVERCOME BY GAS FROM STOVE

Frank Stewart Found Unconscious Wednesday Morning at His Home—Northwest of This Place.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Juda, Jan. 5.—Frank Stewart, living three miles northeast of Juda, was found Wednesday forenoon by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stewart, unconscious from gas escaping from the base burner stove. A doctor was called immediately after he was found. They worked over him for several hours and now he is out of danger.

H. F. Nix and daughter, Pearl, went to Henry Pinnow's Wednesday, to attend the wedding of their daughter, Rosa Pinnow.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Dandwiddle and son, returned home from Prepost Friday, after a few days' visit with their son.

The R. N. A. will entertain the M. W. A. tonight at the I. O. O. F. hall. The R. N. A. are going to have an oyster supper.

The revival meetings will be at the Baptist church, Monday, Jan. 8, 1934.

Miss Mable Alexander of Broadhead, spent Sunday and Monday here with her cousin Miss Ora Alexander.

Miss Leone Raught returned home Monday evening, after a week's visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Edith Allen and son, James, were Broadhead visitors last Friday.

The lecture course that was held here Monday evening, was well attended and enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Matzko had business in Broadhead Tuesday.

Miss Vera Atkinson came home from Broadhead last Friday, after a few days' visit with her cousin.

MASTER MECHANIC SEEKS PREVENTIONS OF INJURY

Aids Trainmen to Report All Things Which They Think Will Help to Prevent Accident or Injury.

Master Mechanic C. V. Coon recently notified the trainmen of the local division that points would be deposited at Harburo and Madison on which he desired them to use for the purpose of notifying him of anything which should happen to notice which might prevent an accident or injury. This is another step in a long list which is hoped will go a little further toward the lessening of the great number of injuries and accidents, many of which might have been avoided had some one had the opportunity of sending word to headquarters. Mr. Coon urges all of the men to co-operate with him in this matter and he hopes that in this way a large number of improvements may be made which will add to the safety of railway employees. This is only another step in the direction which the Safety Committee of the local yards started when they organized some time ago.

MOST SEVERE COLD IS EASILY BROKEN

In Just a Few Hours All Misery From "A Bad Cold or the Grippe" Will Be Overcome.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will and the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserably neuralgic pains, headache, dizziness, and nose stuffed up, fever, shivering, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

STATE BANKS OF WISCONSIN SHOW DECIDED INCREASE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Jan. 5.—The aggregate resources of the 573 state banks and trust companies of Wisconsin on December 31, 1933, were $184,003,646.91, a gain of $13,561,289.97 for the year, according to the annual report of Commissioner of Banking Knott, submitted to the governor today. The report says the banking institutions under the department's supervision are on the whole in excellent condition and are worthy of the confidence of the people.

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

No Bloating, Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

PURRED TONGUE, BAD TASTE, INDIGESTION, SLOW SKIN AND MISERABLE HEADACHES COME FROM A TORPID LIVER AND CLOGGED BOWELS, WHICH CAUSE YOUR STOMACH TO BECOME FILLED WITH UNDIGESTED FOOD, WHICH SOURS AND FERMENTS LIKE GARBAGE IN A SWILL BARREL. THAT'S THE FIRST STEP TO UNTOIL MISERY—INDIGESTION, FOUL GASSES, BAD BREATH, YELLOW SKIN, MORAL FRAUD, EVERYTHING THAT IS HORRIBLE AND UNPLEASANT. A Cascaret tonight will give you a thorough cleansing inside and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Their little friends need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

MIRRORS ARE USED TO EXHIBIT AUTOS

Novel Way of Showing Auto Machinery Will Be Used at Coming Milwaukee Show.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 5.—J. G. Hickman, president of the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' association, has addressed a letter and a pamphlet illustrating in a clear and interesting way "The Value of the Automobile Show," to more than three thousand industrial and mercantile concerns in Wisconsin, accompanied by an invitation to visit the Milwaukee Auto show in the Auditorium, January 13 to 19.

"At a large automobile show," says Mr. Hickman in his story of the Auto show, "the visitor has an opportunity to examine all these cars and trucks which he has read of, under the most favorable circumstances. He sees the various chassis models in a 'stripped' condition, exposing all the elements of their mechanism and presenting a clear idea of their relative arrangement. He is enabled to observe without discomfiture, parts of the mechanism which are inaccessible to ordinary view, such as the under sides of structural and operating parts, which are made visible to him by mirrors placed upon the floor.

"The complete mechanism may be shown in motion, illustrating the operative relationship of all parts, such as the action of the transmission on the several gears, the distribution of oil by the lubrication system, and the like. Moreover, the engine, the gear box, the rear axle, the steering device, and the brakes are usually shown separately, with their parts fully exposed and often disassembled. To a prospective customer, who is going about his problem of selection in a serious spirit, this opportunity to study each car on the market in detail is of incalculable value."

CLARENCE CLEVELAND

U. of W. TRACK CAPTAIN
Madison, Wis., Jan. 5.—Clarence Cleveland, the University of Wisconsin has one of the greatest distance runners in the middle west this year. This is Cleveland's third year in Intercollegiate track work and his performances heretofore, have uniformly been of such high character as to warrant the declaration of his admirers that there is no two-miler in the Middle West who can compare with him.

Cleveland was discovered by chance two years ago. Prior to that time he had taken no part in track athletics, but by chance he took some exercise by running with the track men one evening and the coach noticed that a man with the tremendous stride that he had and his perfect physical trim should try out for the college team. The advice was followed with the result that every two-miler in the Middle West was defeated by the new comer and he was only defeated at the conference by the great Baker of Oberlin.

This is Cleveland's last year in college and as the captain of this year's team he is determined to bring the championship home to Wisconsin for University of Wisconsin Football Star Treating With Athletic Management of Ohio School.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 5.—Capt. Buser, captain of last year's football team at the University of Wisconsin, is treating with the management of Miami University, Ohio, looking to the acceptance of the position of football coach there next autumn. Buser contemplates going ultimately into the employ of Uncle Sam but would like to try his hand at coaching first, and if he makes good in this work, he would probably follow the avocation. "Keeble" Moll is being considered for a job on the Wisconsin staff of football experts.

Let People Decide.
"When I was president, the man to whom I owed most for guidance as to the proper attitude that courts should take in matters such as these was Mr. William H. Moody, afterwards Justice of the Supreme Court, who, during his lamentably short term of service, gave promise of being one of the greatest Justices who ever sat on that Court. It was he who called my attention to the first essay in Professor Thayer's book of 'Legal Essays on the Origin and Scope of the American Doctrine of Constitutional Law.' Nowhere else is there a clearer statement both of the advantage of conferring upon the courts the power that they possess under our system and also of the further fact that unless that power is wisely exercised it must be inevitably restrained. It is, I believe, an advantage to have fixed in the courts the power to state that a legislative act is unconstitutional; but only provided that the power is exercised with the greatest wisdom and self-restraint. If the courts continue to use it with the recklessness that has too often been shown in the past, it is almost inevitable that efforts will be made to amend or abolish it; I know, for instance, that, as far as I am personally concerned, I earnestly hope to see in the next New York State Constitutional convention provisions incorporated in the Constitution which will enable the people to decide for themselves, by popular ballot after due deliberation, finally and without appeal, what the law of the land shall be in cases such as those I have mentioned, where the courts of the state have refused to allow the people to establish justice and equity.

Have Right and Duty.
"I am sure that the ultimate of our people must, and will, come to the view that the national and the states within their several spheres—spheres which must cover every particle of the ground where it is possible for government to act at all—have not only the right but the duty to decide as wisdom and experience shall dictate as to all the conditions which shall obtain in tenement houses, in factories, in mines, on railways, for preserving men, women and children in health, life and limb. If they so decide, and are really bent upon having the decision reduced to practice, the courts will, sooner or later, in one way or another, be forced to give it effect.

ILLINOIS BOY'S
PECULIAR CASE

BOY DOCTORS SIX YEARS WITH-OUT OBTAINING RELIEF FROM COMPLICATED AILMENTS.

UNITED DOCTORS CURE HIM.

THEY ACCOMPLISH IN SIX DAYS
WHAT OTHER DOCTORS FAILED TO DO IN SIX YEARS.

The saying that fact is stronger than fiction, never was better illustrated than by the strange case of 11 year old Francis Bremer of Streator, Illinois.

Young Bremer is a local newsboy there, a bright little lad in spite of a six-year ailment of the nervous, bladder and kidneys. Mr. M. White, a retired farmer philanthropist who lives just outside of Streator on what is known as Bloomington road, took an interest in young Bremer some time ago. He soon learned of the boy's trouble and took him to the UNITED DOCTORS' Institute there (which is a branch of the UNITED DOCTORS' Institute in Janesville) to see if anything could be done for the lad.

The boy was placed under treatment with the new system of medicine as used by the UNITED DOCTORS and was cured in just one week. What other doctors and medicines failed to do in six years was accomplished by the UNITED DOCTORS in almost that many days.

Wonderful as this may seem to the general public, it is but one of the many records of wonderful cures made by these specialists.

Anyone will do well to call on the UNITED DOCTORS in their Janesville Institute if suffering from any chronic or deep seated disease of the nerves, blood, kidneys, heart, liver, bladder, stomach, spine including rheumatism, paralysis, epilepsy, gut stones, colitis, neuritis, constipation, indigestion, catarrh, deafness, skin trouble.

The UNITED DOCTORS' remarkable success with their new system of treatment is not only known in Wisconsin but all over the country.

the people have the right, and where it is their duty to go counter to the wishes of the people. I do not mean that there are no such cases, on the contrary, I hold that not only the judge, but the legislator or executive, may at times find that his highest duty to the people is to resist the will of the people if some question of real or vital principle, or right or wrong, is at stake. But his usefulness in standing ruggedly for his own convictions in such cases where the moral law is at stake, will largely depend upon his not having refused to represent the popular will when the people had a right to have their will respected.

Position Not Radical.
"No public servant who is worth his salt should hesitate to stand by his conscience, and, if necessary, to surrender his office rather than to yield his conscientious convictions in a case of genuine importance, but while that is his right and his duty, our right and our duty is to see that he is responsible to us, to the people; and I hold with Abraham Lincoln that we are united to be called a free people if we permanently surrender the right to shape our destinies and place this right in the hands of any men not responsible to us.

"One word in closing. What I have advocated is not revolution. It is not wild radicalism. It is the highest and wisest kind of conservatism."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
La Crosse, Jan. 5.—Word was received here that Congressman John J. Esch will return to his district Jan. 14, to attend to Camp Douglas progressive conference. Mr. Esch has just returned to Washington from a trip to Panama and finds a serious situation confronting him if he seeks re-nomination.

Organize Drainage Congress.

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 5.—At a well attended conference here today steps were taken for the organization of a permanent state drainage association which will work for the reclamation and development of the 3,000,000 acres of swamp and low lands along the South Carolina coast. Delegates were appointed to attend the convention of the National Drainage Congress in New Orleans in February and preliminary arrangements discussed for the entertainment of the national body when it meets in this city next year.

Oregon Governor Opposes Hanging.
Salem, Ore., Jan. 5.—Mike Moran, who was sentenced to hang in the state penitentiary here today, was spared the death penalty, thanks to the clemency of Governor West. The Governor is opposed to capital punishment and declares that no person shall be hanged in Oregon during his term of office. Moran, whose home is in St. Cloud, Minn., was convicted of murdering his partner, John Mark, while they were alone in a logging camp at Grant's Pass.

Miss Muriel Richardson of Spencer Shares in Division of Property Which Was Opposed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Marshallfield, Jan. 5.—Miss Muriel Richardson, of Spencer, has been awarded two-thirds of the estate of her mother, Mrs. Rose M. Mill Moore, who was hanged to death at St. Paul two years ago. The husband filed this division of the property as Miss Richardson had been adopted into another family.

THE

DEAR OLD BILLY.

This critics, the public and theatrical managers of reputation and experience, who saw William Hawtry and his excellent company in Dear Old Billy during their four months run in Chicago, part of which endured through a hot wave that succeeded in closing the doors of all but three theatres in that city, unanimously declare that a more capable or better balanced company has not been assembled in twenty years. To assist Mr. Hawtry in presenting one of the eloquent, crispest and most wholesomely funny farces that has ever been brought to America, not even excepting "The Private Secretary," "Charley's Aunt" or "Jane." Mr. A. C. Delamater has selected a company that includes E. H. Kelly, formerly leading man with Norths Kallibos; Harold Fairfax, formerly with John Drew; Harry Redding, formerly leading juvenile with William Faversham; Harry Lonsdale, formerly with E. S. Willard; Miss Jane Burby, eight seasons with May Irwin; Miss Condo Jamieson, formerly with Beerholm Tree; Miss Ruth Tomlinson, formerly with the Mary Mannerling Company.

SUPERIOR WINS IN CASE

THE STATE COMMISSION.

Order Issued by Judge Stevens Overruling Demurrers of Railroad Companies.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 5.—A decision in favor of the city of Superior has been handed down by Judge E. Ray Stevens, Dane County circuit court, by issuing an order overruling the demurrers of the railroad companies which objected to paying the cost of a new viaduct over Belknap street in Superior in the proportion ordered. The state railroad commission was a de-

THE FIRST VIOLIN.

The notable drama Richard Mansfield's success, The First Violin, comes to the Myers Theatre, Saturday, Jan. 6th, matinee and evening.

The title "The First Violin" refers to the leader of the orchestra in the Imperial Theatre in Ellerslie, Germany, namely, the musician who plays the "leading" violin. "Eugene Courvoisier" a man who seemed to be of great refinement and noble in mystery stood. His fellow players were greatly in sympathy with him, yet wondered at his "Past." They always believed he was of some grant and noble family and that some sorrow shadowed his life.

The principal characters of the play appeared to be, are musicians, members of "Eugene's" orchestra, and Eugene is "The First Violin" but the story has to do with the domestic affairs of "Eugene" and May Wedderburn, the young English girl.

endant with the railroad companies. The city contended that the right to review the action of the railroad commission is expressly conferred by section 1747-18 of the statutes, which has been incorporated into the railroad commission law.

REHBERG'S

Year's Odds and Ends Sale.
Reductions 25% to 50%

THIS sale gives you the opportunity to economize without sacrificing style or quality. You'll find suits and overcoats—the really distinctive kind—included at prices that are possible only because these garments are odds and ends. During our odds and ends sale we show little consideration for actual values and former selling prices. You'll find that true when you come here tomorrow.

MEN and young men's suits and overcoats arranged in five lots—all specially priced—great values $9.45, $10.50, $12.45, $14.50, $17.50. See them in our window. Come in and try one on. You'll buy one.

Rehberg's Great Shoe
Department

Whether you pay us $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00, $4.50 or $5.00 for a pair of our shoes, the proportion of value you get is just as great in one case as another—the difference in price merely denoting the various qualities. It is our idea to include in this comprehensive price scope styles that experience has taught us will be most favored by critical judges of shoe fashion. Quality and value, of course, remain the keystone upon which we hope to continue the upbuilding of this great business. To see your feet properly dressed, correctly fitted in shoes that are right for you, at a price you are satisfied to pay, is our chief consideration.

Party Slippers

You'll find our showing very complete. All sizes, small and large. Satins, Velvets and Suedes have the call this season. Pink, tan, blue, white and black, the colors. $3.50 and $3.00, the price.

THE MARKET PLACE.

In commenting upon the municipal market the Christian Science Herald gives some interesting data regarding its growth and use in the United States:

"Municipal markets are not new in this country. Fifty years ago every city and considerable town had a public market place. New York, Philadelphia, Boston, New Orleans, St. Louis and other cities that might be named still maintain great market houses. Such names as 'Washington Market,' 'Faneuil Hall Market,' 'Quincy Market,' 'French Market,' 'Union Market,' are familiar to people the country over. St. Louis once had three or four great markets. Chicago has today three squares upon which market houses once stood. A generation ago, every small town in the South and Southwest had a central market place. Most of those communities have outgrown those centers. The privately-owned market, grocery and butcher shop have supplanted them. This is as true of Great Britain and Ireland and of parts of the continent as it is of the United States. Yet in some of the cities at home and abroad, great and small, the public market still exists and prospers."

"These markets were and are, however, public markets only in the sense that they were and are administered as to their general business management by the respective municipalities. The stalls or booths have always been let to private tenants. What is proposed now is that the municipality shall not only own and operate the market house, but go into the business of operating the stalls or booths. We are told that in the city, where the experiment is likely to be first made on anything like an important scale, the intention is not to displace existing distributive concerns, but, through publicity and regulation, to keep prices at a fair and proper point and to save the consumer from extortion."

"There appears, on the one hand, very good excuse for a movement, official or other, which will put a stop to the cornering of foodstuffs. It has been demonstrated in some instances that prices charged the ultimate consumer were out of all proportion to the prices received by the original producer. It has not been satisfactorily shown, however, that the retailer is the blameless factor in the high-cost-of-living situation, nor that a movement for municipal markets, which will strike him first of all, will solve the problem. We do not hear of retailers of foodstuffs acquiring great fortunes. It is questionable even if the commission men or the cold storage men have made great fortunes of late. Still, prices are too high, and the consumer is justified in seeking a remedy for a condition which, he frequently alleges, drains away his income."

"Savings banks reports, nevertheless, disprove the allegation that he is being drained so completely. Savings of the wage-earners of the country show a constant increase. The condition of the American truck gardener and farmer does not indicate that he is suffering from the state of the market. He has had fifteen years of prosperity that borders on the phenomenal. If there is cause for complaint anywhere it seems to be among the unskilled and so-called middle classes. But beyond all this the fact stands out that the high cost of living is not a local or a national, but a universal problem. Isolated cases there are, of course, where high prices are traceable to artificial methods of regulating the supply, but when the high average of prices prevails in the village and town as well as in the city, in the West and South as well as in the East, in Europe as well as in America, it must be that some universal cause is operating, and that the conditions resulting can be improved or corrected only by the removal of this cause. What it is has been made evident in a hundred ways during the last few years; it is made evident enough, however, in the population reports from all parts of the world, which show a steady flow from the agricultural districts to the industrial centers. The world's increase of foodstuffs consumers in these days is out of proportion to its increase of foodstuffs producers. Municipal markets will not cure this. Economists and statesmen, and thinkers and workers in general, have got to go deeper for a remedy. Even though backed by late, the phrase 'back to the soil' has lost none of its force."

RUSSIA AND CHINA.

Russian diplomacy bids fair to outstrip the statecraft of some of her rivals as regards the present Chinese situation. It has taken advantage of the first moves of the disrupted country and by its maneuvers has decidedly complicated affairs the world over.

FOUR COUNTY COMMITTEES MEET AT COURT HOUSE TODAY.

Committees Six, Ten, Thirteen and Sixteen Busy With Report Work For Board Meeting.

Four committees of the Rock County Board of supervisors were engaged in preparing their reports to be presented at the opening session of the board next Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 9. Committee six on county highways and superintendent of highways report remained in session this afternoon. Committee No. ten on general claims, composed of T. J. Hughes, of Clinton, John Tuller, Union, and Shimon Smith, Deloit, were in session. Committee No. 13 also remained in session, and committee No. 16, purchasing agents, composed of S. B. Heddes, Janesville, and W. B. Maxson, village of Milton, and the county clerk began their work today.

If two of the most remote and western of the provinces of China, never closely bound to Peking and the Manchian dynasty, elect to be independent at this hour of disintegration of the empire and reformation of the nation under more democratic forms, and if they choose to affiliate with Russia as a protector, who shall say them nay? The powers, by a self-denying ordinance as it were, have agreed to conserve the unity of China to act jointly in such meditation and interference as may become necessary for the protection of the lives and the property of foreigners, and to prevent partition by force. But nominally voluntary withdrawal of provinces from the empire and their virtual appropriation by a neighboring power, what of that? Both Japan and Great Britain, that now are acting somewhat in unison with Russia, will have special responsibilities in the matter should it prove to be true that Mongolia and Turkestan have passed under the control of the Slav.

There are some decided advantages to the proposed plan of a national convention to pass upon and define the precise form of a constitutional government which the new China shall have. If this be too long delayed in assembling, additional time for chaos and anarchy in the provinces will be furnished, which in turn may be made the pretense for foreign intervention. On the other hand, prompt passing of representative men of weight and character, such as have financed and managed the revolution, and adequate formal debate of the pros and cons of republicanism, would give to whatever decision was made a validity that no agreement between Yuan Shi Kai and the revolutionary leaders could provide. The decision ultimately has to be justified, not only to contemporaries but also to future students of national character and history. If republicanism is to be tried a vast process of popular political education must be carried on coincident with the first halting steps of the governmental experiment; and a national convention, soberly arguing the case and defining the reasons for its choice, would provide material of an educational sort superlative in its value.

MISS CROSBY WILL
WED NEXT TUESDAY

Marriage of Miss Louise Crosby to Lawrence Ross Will Occur Tuesday Afternoon, January 9th.

Miss Louise Crosby of this city and Lawrence Ross of Milwaukee will be united in marriage at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Mary Crosby, North Jackson street, next Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 9, at four-thirty o'clock. The wedding will be a quiet affair and will be attended by the intimate relatives of the bride and groom. Miss Crosby has a large circle of friends in Janesville which has always been her home. Mr. Ross is a nephew of Mrs. Malcolm G. Jeffris. Among relatives from out of the city who are here for the wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Ross of Vancouver, B. C., who are guests at the M. G. Jeffris home; Miss Grace Crosby of Pasadena, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crosby of Lake Forest, Miss Lattie Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Rowe of Milwaukee.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Notice to All Patriarchs: There will be a regular meeting of Rock River Epiphany tonight in East Side Odd Fellows hall. Installation of officers and work in the Golden Rule degree.

W. R. C. Installation: Officers and members of W. R. C. No. 21 are requested to meet at the hall, Friday afternoon at 2:00 p. m., to practice for installation. Old officers and new ones especially should be there. Anna Morse, Secretary.

Seventeen Sleepers: Seventeen men spent the night in the police station, gladly availing themselves of an opportunity to sleep in a warm place. Some of them came in very cold. Only four of the seventeen men had overcoats.

Change in Hour: Tomorrow the festival of the Epiphany, the service of the Holy Communion at Trinity church will be at 9:00 a. m. instead of 7:30, as previously announced.

BIG TAX PAYERS ON THE QUI VIVE NOW
CHANGE IN VALUATIONS OF JAMESVILLE PROPERTY WILL BE RADICAL.

INCREASE IS DECIDED
 What the Final Result Will Be Is Hard to Estimate Just at Present—May Injure Industries.

With the completion of the work of the re-assessment of the city by the members of the state tax commission, the throwing open of the books at the city hall for inspection of property-owners, the real danger to the industries of the city from this move has become more apparent. There is an expected crowd of property-owners inspecting the books today and many are the unfavorable comments made regarding the reason for this decided change.

It has been stated by men in a position to know, that the re-assessment figures, if they stand and are not changed by the commission board at their session next week, will mean the driving out of Janesville of many of the big industries as well as setting up a decided barrier to ever securing any new ones. While doubtless some of the companies have in the past received the benefit of a lenient assessment still the alterations are most decided.

Some of the notable changes are the following, the old figures being given first, the new ones following: Rock River Woolen Mills from $41,500 to $58,650; Janesville Barb Wire Works from $19,200 to $119,357; Grand Brewery Co. from $12,750 to $30,470; Myers hotel from $30,000 to $47,000; Myers theatre from $25,000 to $38,175. The Janesville Machine company shows one of the big increases, jumping from $15,300 to $25,850.

Other changes noted are: Hanson Furniture company from $16,500 to $25,100; Howe Bros. from $30,000 to $45,000; Quartz Printing company, $13,500 to $22,400; Recorder Printing company, $3,000 to $4,300; the Archibald and Mary Reid property in the third ward, $15,000 to $24,000; the Hayen block, $67,000 to $87,000; Lawrie Knitting company, $24,500 to $31,700; Jackson block, $45,000 to $57,500. The Janesville Electric company also takes a jump from $175,000 to $272,180. The Janesville Water company steps up from $183,000 to $226,041; the Janesville Clothing company jumps more than any other institution, from $6,000 to $66,072. The Janesville Wholesale Grocery company changes from $10,000 to $28,821; the I. M. Boatwell estate changes from $20,015 to $130,000.

The assessment of water rights along Rock river included in the assessment of those institutions is as follows:
 Janesville Electric Co.....$100,000
 Blodgett Milling Co.....20,000
 V. P. Richardson.....6,000
 Rock River Woolen Mills.....10,000

The above figures do not include land, buildings, machinery or anything except water power rights.

The banks also come in for their share of increase: Rock County National bank, from $148,000 to $185,320; Merchants and Savings, from $185,224 to $231,536; First National from $100,000 to $240,000; Dever City from $84,765 to $110,180.

All complaints regarding the new assessment must be made before the 15th unless it is to be brought up before the Board of Review which will be composed of H. V. Cowles, F. A. Crocker, representing the state tax commission; Frank Snyder and F. H. Snyder. These gentlemen are now at the city hall and ask that the persons looking up the changes bring their old tax receipts with them for comparison.

TWO SEVERELY HURT IN CAVE-IN OF BANK AT THE FULTON DAM

C. E. Cannon, Has Shoulder-blade Broken and Face Mutilated—Andrew Neethund Injured Leg.

C. E. Cannon, superintendent of the crew of eighteen men who went up to Fulton early in the week to make repairs on the dam of the Electric Light company there, was severely injured Wednesday evening when an over-hanging ledge of earth caved in upon him. His shoulder-blade was broken and his face cut up, and it will be several weeks before he will be able to return to work. Mr. Cannon is operator at the Monterey power plant.

Andrew Neethund, one of the workmen, was the victim of a cave-in in practically the same spot yesterday morning. One leg was so badly injured as to disable him for a while.

The repair crew quit work last night because of the extremely cold weather. Only a couple of days' work remains to be done. Although it is very difficult to make the repairs at this time with the ground frozen hard, they had to be made now in order to save the dam from destruction. Since the break occurred several weeks ago the water has been undermining the foundations and threatening to carry them away altogether. The cement part of the dam was uninjured when the break occurred.

Change in Hours
 Tomorrow the festival of the Epiphany the services of Holy Communion at Trinity Church will be at 9:00 a. m. instead of 7:30 as previously announced.

The Philomathian club will meet with Mrs. A. C. Jenkins, 416 Millon avenue, Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

PRECAUTIONS NEEDED FOR PREVENTION OF FROST BITES.
 Many Children Suffer From Nipped Ears and Noses—Treatment of Frozen Extremities.

A number of children and not a few adults suffered from frozen ears and noses today as the result of inadequate protection or careless exposure. With the temperature at its present low level there is grave danger of widespread suffering on this account, not only from the actual exposure, but from the pain that follows or accompanies the thawing out process. Loss of injured ears or fingers is also possible. It is important that parents take every precaution to protect their children from these dangers, and also know how to treat a frozen extremity. These should be packed in snow until the circulation revives; hot water or heat should not be applied for they may lead to blood poison or mortification of the injured part.

DEMOCRATIC BOOMS WILL BE LAUNCHED

Wilson Headquarters Opened Anticipating the Gathering for Jackson Day Banquet.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—The booms of the several aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination will be much in evidence in Washington during the next few days. A Woodrow Wilson headquarters opened for business today in anticipation of the meeting of the national committee next Monday and the gathering of the party leaders for the Jackson Day banquet. Governor Wilson will be here in person Monday. The Harmon headquarters already in running order and Senator Pomeroy is relied upon to keep the Harmon boom well to the front, even though the Ohio governor should not put in an appearance for the banquet Monday night. Speaker Clark and Congressman Underwood who make up the quartette of the leading aspirants for the Democratic nomination, will keep open house during the stay of the national committee men. Each of the four candidates naturally desires to make a good impression on the committee members.

To Entertain Harmon.

New York, Jan. 5.—Governor Harmon of Ohio, whose candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination is regarded with favor by many of the old-line Democrats in this section, is coming to New York tomorrow to be the chief guest at a reception and dinner to be given by the Lotus Club. The club is distinctly a non-partisan political organization. In the fifty years of its existence it has entertained presidents, senators and other men prominent in public life without regard as to whether they were Republicans or Democrats. It is expected that Governor Harmon will go from this city to Washington to attend the Jackson Day banquet. The reception with which the Ohio executive meets in these two important centers will interest the politicians as a possible indication of the strength of the Harmon sentiment in the East.

CARY APPORTIONS INSTITUTE MONEY

Rock County Will Receive $212 For Purpose of Conducting Teachers' Institutes.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 5.—State Supt. C. P. Cary on Wednesday apportioned the annual state aid of $9,000 for teachers' institutes among the different counties of the state and certified the apportionment to the secretary of state. The amount of money apportioned to each county is as follows:

PROGRESSIVES PLAN TO NAME DELEGATES

At Meeting at Green Day Next Tuesday Progressives of State Will Consider Important Matters.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 5.—Progressive republicans will hold a meeting at Green Day on Tuesday, Jan. 9, for the purpose of agreeing upon delegates to the national republican convention. The meeting has been called by Assemblyman C. H. Ballard of Appleton and Editor H. J. Sanderson of Sturgeon Bay, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the temporary organization perfected at the Milwaukee meeting Dec. 5, when this course was decided upon.

It is understood that the Door county delegation will present the name of Assemblyman L. L. Johnson, who, upon the strongest kind of a La Follette-forerunner declaration, carried his county two to one against the "fields." This county gave Peck a large majority over La Follette for governor in 1904.

Another subject that will, no doubt, come up for discussion is the congressional situation, which has been complicated by the addition of Langdale county of the fifth district to the sixth district, thus putting Congressman E. A. Morse of Antigo into the same district with Congressman T. F. Konop. There will undoubtedly be some candidates from the populous counties of the old sixth who will oppose Morse's re-nomination.

TODAY'S EVANSVILLE NEWS

Evansville Boys Win Beloit Game

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evansville, Wis., Jan. 5.—The Junior basketball team accompanied by director Chas. Atkinson of the Y. M. C. A. and several other boys went to Beloit Wednesday afternoon.

The Evansville team defeated the Beloit players by a score of 23 to 12. Aside from the basketball game, a very interesting program was given. Several members of the Clinton Y. M. C. A. were present, and taking every thing into consideration, the boys had a very enjoyable and interesting time. The following are the boys who attended:

Brooks Gehrig, Chas. Hamm, Darrell Patterson, Lee Hendricks, Glen Hoffman, Marion Jones, Gordon Adams, Leslie Fisher and Roy Stuart.

HOLD CONVENTIONS AT MADISON SOON

Annual Convention of State Board of Agriculture Will be Held in Madison, February 8th.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 5.—The Wisconsin state board of agriculture will hold its annual convention here Feb. 8. The following addresses will be given: "Potato Industry," A. J. Pinkerton, Waupun; "Alfalfa in Wisconsin," Julian Reis, Brookfield; "Business Side of Farming," Senator W. H. Hutton, New London; "Soil Management," J. C. McDowell, Wausau; "Opportunities in Wisconsin," Secretary of State James A. Frazier, chairman of the Wisconsin state board of immigration; "Farm Forestry," E. M. Griffith, state forester.

Live Stock Breeders.
The Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' Association will hold its annual convention Feb. 9. The business session will be followed by an address, "What, How and Why," by the Canadian Government doing for the livestock industry," by a representative of the Canadian agricultural department, and an address on "What, How and Why" by the United States doing for the livestock industry," by a representative of the United States department of agriculture. There will be a five-minute talk by a representative from each state-livestock association in Wisconsin.

Foreign Liability Companies.
The foreign liability companies, according to Chairman Crowhart's letter to the insurance commissioner, recently combined in putting out a uniform rate book with instruction to agents. These rate books are exactly the same except as to the outside covers and were printed in the east after the companies had organized a conference. Mr. Crowhart says in his letter:

"The instructions to agents interpreting the compensation act are practically all wrong, or misleading. It is difficult to see how these companies could honestly issue such instructions."

He then points out specific instances in which the instructions are erroneous. He directs attention to the instructions wherein they inform agents that the cost under the compensation act is unlimited, and in commenting upon one item of the rate books says:

"This statement is so foolish as to suggest an attempt on the part of the companies to before instead of to state the truth."

SCHOOL DISTRICTS WILL RECEIVE STATE AID FUNDS

Thirty-one Districts Complying With Special Requirements Each Receive Fifty Dollars.

The county superintendent of schools has received a list of thirty-one school districts in Rock county each of which is entitled to fifty dollars from the special state aid fund. This makes the total amount of money coming to the county from the state from this source, $1,550. Fifty dollars.

The death of Mr. James Hubbard, occurred at his home in this city, on Thursday, at 11:00 P. M. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock at the house.

Miss Helen Richardson recently left for Whitewater, to resume her school duties.

Miss Nell Collins is expected home from a two weeks' vacation the last of the week.

ASK COMPANIES TO RECALL RATE BOOKS

Insurance Commissioner Issues Order to Liability Insurance Companies Operating in State.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 5.—Liability insurance companies operating in Wisconsin today were asked by Insurance Commissioner H. L. Ekern to withdraw their books of rates and instructions to agents. In his letter to the companies Mr. Ekern enclosed a letter from C. H. Crowhart, chairman of the state industrial commission which administers the workmen's compensation act, and according to Mr. Crowhart the insurance companies have interpreted the law to so great an extent that employers generally possess wrong ideas as to its contents and intent.

The following companies are among those affected by the insurance commissioner's request for a recall of rate books: Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation, London, Eng.; Fidelity & Casualty Co., Baltimore, Md.; Maryland Casualty Co., Baltimore, Md.; United States Fidelity & Guarantee Co., Baltimore, Md.; Aetna Accident & Liability Co., Hartford, Conn.; Casualty Company of America, New York; Frankfort Marine, Accident & Plate Glass Co., Frankfort, Ger.; London Guarantee & Accident Co., London, Eng.; New Amsterdam Casualty Co., New York; Ocean Accident Insurance Co., Detroit, Mich.; Travelers' Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn.; United States Casualty Co., New York.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

Scientific Savers in Household Work.

Scientific housekeeping is the slogan of today. And when science becomes more generally the housekeeper's right hand maid, much of the present day drudgery, and time and strength consuming labor will depart from household work.

Simpler and more nourishing menus than are ours today, cookery by gas or electricity, practical dishwashing machines, electric irons, vacuum cleaners,—all these things will make keeping house a delightful occupation, and win back to it the women who are now departing for more congenial work. The home will, once more, come into its own, but it will be a far superior home to the one of the past.

But even now, though scientific housekeeping is not yet very general, a woman with a modicum of scientific knowledge, can in many little ways, save herself work or money.

The old method of cleaning silver was tiresome and time-consuming. Chemistry, as taught in the School of Domestic Science in a New York college has brought a great improvement. Take any bright metal vessel, different electrically from the silver,—tin or aluminum will do, only it must be bright,—put the silver into it, and pour on boiling water. An electric current is at once set up which cleans the silver. The result is sometimes improved by adding a little soap, or a tablespoonful each of common salt and baking soda to each quart of water. No rubbing is required. After a few minutes in this solution, the silver will be bright. Is not this a vast improvement over the old-time way?

Often clothes come from the wash stained with iron-rust, and the housewife has searched in vain for the cause. One woman in particular when she found sheets and white petticoats and white dresses ruined with rust marks made an exhaustive examination of tubs, washboards, wringer, everything that came in contact with the clothes. But she could find nothing that would cause the rust. But almost every week, these rust-marks appeared on the clothes. They became the family mystery. Finally, she was told, by one who had made a study of chemistry, that many of the liquid bluing on the market today have an iron base, and that this, when united with the alkali in the soap left by insufficient rinsing, will mark the clothes with rust. A heart to heart talk followed with the maid, and there are now no more rust stains. It is a little thing, but decidedly worth knowing.

It is very easy to tell, too, if there is chicory in the coffee. Chicory is harmless, but it is poor economy to pay for coffee and get chicory. To discover if there is a mixture of chicory in the coffee you buy, take a tablespoonful of ground coffee and empty it on top of a glass of cold water. The coffee will float. But if chicory is present, it will sink leaving streaks of brownish color on the water.

In scores of other ways, science is aiding the housekeeper, and the housewife who takes advantage of its help will find her work growing more interesting and less burdensome.

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

The only real thing I did then was to hurry as though every moment were my last, as though the world, which now seems so rich in everything, held only one prize which might be seized upon before I arrived. Since then I have tried to recall, like one who struggles to restore the visions of a fever, what it felt like that I can attain, or why I should have borne without rebellion such indignities to soul and body.—David Grayson.

What are you hurrying for so far?
Do you really need it?

Would anything terrible happen if you should stop and breathe?

Is it worth while?

It seems to me that three out of four Americans could put those questions to themselves with good results.

On a post card the other day I read this sage advice:

"There is no time to lose in hurrying; man was not made in thirty seconds, nor yet in thirty minutes."

The philosopher of the post card did not sign his name, and give me a chance to give him credit, but I think he certainly deserves credit for reminding me of something most of us sadly need to remember.

We often ask why it is that we do not make such durable furniture, build such lasting houses, or do any work in the "foreverness" way in which our grandfathers did it? Have we lost the knack?

No, we haven't lost the knack, but we've lost the time.

In a public library the other day, I asked for a certain volume and was told that it had been sent to be bound and wouldn't be back for two or three months. "Why does it take so long?" I asked in wonderment. "Oh we send them abroad," they explained, "we can't get any such work done in this country."

Why? Because Americans haven't as much intelligence as foreigners? No, because they haven't so much time.

Thoroughly good work, no matter of what kind, simply cannot be done in a hurry.

I know housewives who are the envy of the neighborhood, because of the amount of work they appear to "turn off" in no time at all. I'm thinking of a particular woman who was always a marvel to me, until I slept in one of her beds. In the wee small hours of the night, I arose and instinctively and timorously made that bed as it should be made—and in it I explained I am not an old maid in the matter of beds. I merely like to have some of the clothes tucked in at the foot—and after that I understood how she managed to "turn off" so much work in no time at all.

We talk about the high cost of living and tell of article after article, the price of which has soared to terrible heights. I wonder that we do not say more about that which seems to have become more rare and more expensive than anything else—time—time to do work properly—time to rest—time to have friends—time to be happy—time to live.

A little book of essays has made a tremendous hit, largely on account of its clever title—"How to live on twenty-four hours a day."

"Ah, I must get that," I've heard a dozen people sigh. "I'd like to know how."

I don't seem to be able to do it now."

Isn't that in itself an excellent criterion on our time starved condition.

It is said of the American man, that when he finds that his income is not covering his expenses, he does not say, "I must reduce my expenses," but "I must increase my income." Doubtless, that's what we'd like to do in the matter of time. But unfortunately we can't. We've all the time there is and clever as we are, we can't by hook or crook get any more.

The only way out is the better use of what we have now.

How?

Well, for one thing don't shorten an already insufficient allowance by those twin time-wasters, hurry and worry.

Remember the advice of the philosopher of the post card—"There is no time to lose in hurrying. Man was not made in thirty seconds, nor yet in thirty minutes."

CLEANING HINTS.

Chloroform will remove grease spots from the most delicate fabric; rub until completely dry and there will be no ring to mark the spot.

Coffee stains on colored goods can be removed if at once sopped up with a clean sponge, wet in cold water. Place the damaged spot over a thickly folded cloth and keep changing the water in the sponge until the coffee disappears.

Oatmeal is a good cleaner for white paint. Rub the paint with a damp cloth dipped in oatmeal, then rub dry with a dry cloth.

To remove grease spots from wall paper, cover with a blotting paper and press with a hot iron.

Brass bedsteads can be cleaned by rubbing with a cloth dipped in sweet oil. Afterward polish with a piece of leather.

Pepper Nuts.—Mix one pound and a quarter of brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cinnamon, one tablespoonful of cloves and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Stir into this three eggs and add as much flour as it is possible to work in. Roll in a thin sheet and cut with a small cutter. Bake in a slow oven. These cakes are more attractive if a little frosting is spread on one side.

Buttermilk Biscuits.—Sift together a quart of flour and an even teaspoonful of soda, add two teaspoonfuls of salt. Rub in two tablespoonfuls of shortening and wet to a soft dough with buttermilk. Work until the dough is smooth, roll an inch thick and cut in cakes with a large-sized biscuit cutter. When all are ready, prick with a fork and bake in a hot oven.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Ways to Serve Butter and Cheese, Molds and Hands.

By Alice B. Whitaker.

Butter is at all times a table luxury and should be served neatly so that none be wasted. Freshly churned butter has a granular consistency and the more this condition is broken down the less desirable is the butter. Some people of discriminating taste will never allow butter for their own use to be molded into fancy shapes for the reason that much handling will break the granules and destroy the fine flavor peculiar to choice butter made from properly ripened cream.

Choice butter is sometimes made up in half pound prints each marked into small squares that may be cut apart neatly for individual service. A single slice from a pound print is a neat way of serving at the family table on ordinary occasions but there are many times when it must be presented in a different manner.

It is not possible to make tub butter look well on the table unless it is shaped neatly in pats or balls. If the butter is kept well chilled and the utensils for handling it are rightly prepared the flavor will not be injured to any noticeable degree.

Small molds are sold just large enough to make a single pat and grooved hands in the shape of small grooved paddles are used for making the little butter balls or ovals used at luncheon or at dinner. Although butter is not supposed to be served at a formal dinner there are few times that it does not appear on the table.

Put molds or wooden hands into boiling water and let stand twenty minutes then drop into ice water to chill well. About one level tablespoon of butter is enough for one ball and to make them larger is to invite waste. Half used portions of butter are not served again except at cheap boarding houses where these left overs are thriftily worked together in a smooth mass.

Thought for Today
By MRS. ROBERT M. LAFOLETTE.

THE flesh habit is only one phase of bodily proportion. But it is the most obvious and is the one that the most people are interested in overhauling. There are those who philosophically accept the tendency to increase in weight as inevitable. Others, constantly fret and fume about it, without making an intelligent effort for its mastery.

Where the accumulation is gradual the individual does not usually suffer so much from the sense of inconvenience, as from an uncomfortable personal self-consciousness. The incentive to prevent and to get rid of flesh is, therefore, more often a desire to improve the appearance than fear of its effect on the health.

But disproportionate weight is an indication of good health and abounding vitality. It not only destroys bodily symmetry and symmetry; it tends slowly perhaps, but surely, to physical deterioration. The chief medical director of a New York life insurance company says that, after twenty-five years of age, even a moderate degree of overweight is unfavorable to health and mortality. Excessive weight, whether it be of fat or muscle, is not a storehouse of reserve strength, as commonly supposed; if it is muscle, it is a burden that has to be nourished; if it is fat it markedly interferes with nutrition and function.

Those who do not wish to become stout and those who desire to reduce their flesh should begin by buying a pair of scales. They need not be expensive. They should be conveniently placed, and hanging near should be an exhortation with a pencil attached. Weight on getting up in the morning and before going to bed at night, and keep a record for two or three weeks before attempting to reduce the weight. This gives the basis for reliable experiment of which I shall speak another time.

enough balls to last several days. Place on a cold plate and set away in the ice chest or in a cold place. Bread and butter plates are used on most tables despite the fact that now and then they are turned out of date. The butter knife is less used than the pick except at the family table. Put a butter ball on each plate and have a few in reserve on a small plate with a pick laid across it.

Cheese is served according to its kind. Edam and Gouda are set on a plate or in a bowl with a slice cut from the top to serve as a cover. Such cheese is served with a tiny scoop. Cut soft, creamy cheese into cubes; take neutralized or cream cheese from the tin and slice thinly with a sharp knife. Requefort cheese is served with a cheese fork and common Dutch cheese is cut in small thin squares.

Rich cheese is more easily digested than the poorer kinds because it has more fat and less casein. When pieces of cheese are dried, grate them or grind fine and serve piled lightly on a plate. Or use the grated cheese for escalloped dishes. Cheese used as a seasoning is far better when grated in thin slices for many people like cheese in the same way they enjoy the onion. They like the flavor but a tangle of it is not pleasant.

REMARKABLE RECORD FOR A MILTON COW

Animal Owned by R. W. Brown Produced 1550 Pounds of Milk Last Month, Testing 4.2.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, Jan. 5.—R. W. Brown of this place gives a remarkable record of the milk production of his cow for the month of December. The total amount of milk given was 1,550 pounds, or an average of 50 pounds a day. The test was 4.2 butterfat; 55.1 pounds, which equals about 75 pounds of butter. The value of the product is about $25.00 for the month, or nearly a dollar a day.

The following was the feed consumed per day: 8 pounds ground feed, consisting of corn ground in the ear; ground oats and bran in equal parts by measure; 1 pound oil meal; 20 pounds beet; early cut timothy hay once a day and alfalfa twice per day.

TELEPHONE COMPANY ISSUES NEW BOOKS

2,700 Copies of New Directories For Rock County Telephone Company Just Completed at Gazette.

The Rock County Telephone Company's directory for 1912 is just being distributed and is up to the usual standard of excellence in compilation and production. The increased list of subscribers will make it a book of unusual interest to patrons of the Rock County system. There were 2,700 copies produced by the printing department of The Gazette—the largest number ever furnished—and the work involved in compiling such a directory is considerable. Much care must be exercised in seeing that proper spelling, initials and locations are correct in every way. Credit is due those who had this matter in charge, as well as to the management who have built up such a magnificent business.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—It looks as if Father will have to stand the courtship expenses!

Must Be Either Good or Bad.
"A man's mind may be likened to a garden, which may be intelligently cultivated, or allowed to run wild; but whether cultivated or neglected, it must, and will bring forth. If no useful seeds are put into it, then an abundance of useless weeds will fall thereon, and will continue to produce their kind."—James Allen.

FOR YOUR HAIR

Here Are Facts We Want You To Prove at Our Risk.

When the roots of the hair are on the verge of falling out, the scalp is glazed over, and we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth.
But, when the hair roots are healthy, life, we believe there is nothing that will so surely promote hair growth as will RECALL "93" Hair Tonic. To prove that statement, we promise to promptly return all the money you pay us for RECALL "93" Hair Tonic, should it not please you.

RECALL "93" Hair Tonic destroys the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and, by promoting circulation, nourishing them.

RECALL "93" Hair Tonic helps to relieve scalp irritation, to remove dandruff, to prevent the hair from falling out, and to promote an increased growth of hair. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain it only at our store—The Recall Store, The South Drug Co., 14 West Milwaukee St., Janesville, Wis.

His Landlady's Advice

Probably Saved His Life.

I feel that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root saved my life. I inherited weak kidneys, and the discharge was so frequent and painful that I would have to stay in bed to obtain temporary relief. I consulted good physicians but the results were disappointing. My landlady advised me to try Swamp-Root. I was the last resort, which I did and I was quickly relieved.

I continued taking Swamp-Root and my weight has increased fifty pounds. My health is of the best and I have told many others about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and have done a lot of good in this way. Your wonderful medicine is of great value to mankind. Yours very truly,

J. H. BRUNNIN,
Pawtucket, R. I.

The above statement made before me I declare to be truthful in every detail.

FRECKLES

By
Gene Stratton-
Porter

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO.

She turned it about, examining the weave of the straw and the foliage trimmings, passing her rough fingers over the satin ties delightedly. As she held it up, admiring it, Freckles' astonished eyes saw a new side of Sarah Duncan. She was jesting, but under the jest the fact loomed strong that there was something in her soul crying out after that bit of feminine dignity. He resolved that when he reached the city he would send her as fine a hat as the angel's if it took $50 to do it.

She lingeringly handed it back to him.
"It's unco good of ye to think of me," she said lightly, "but I mean question your taste a wee. I've no think ye had best return this and get a woman with half her hair gray a little plainer headpiece? Seems like that's far over gay for me. I'm no saying that it's no exactly what I'd like to have, but I mean mak' mysel' ridiculous. Ye'd best give this to somebody young and pretty, say about sixteen. Where did ye come by it, Freckles? If there's anything been dropping lately ye had forgotten to mention it."

"Do you see anything heavenly about that hat?" queried Freckles, holding it up.

The morning breeze waved the ribbons gracefully, hiding one about Freckles' sleeve and the other across his chest, where they caught and clung as if magnetized.

"Yes," said Sarah Duncan, "it's exactly what I'd call a heavenly hat."

"Sure," said Freckles, "for it's belonging to an angel!"

Then he told her about the hat and asked her what he should do with it.

"Take it to her, of course!" said Sarah Duncan.

"You think I should be taking it home?" he said.

"Of course ye must," said Mrs. Duncan. "Ye gang awa and take the blessed little angel her beautiful hat."

"Are you sure it will be all right?" urged Freckles. "Do you think if Mr. McLean came he would care?"

"No," said Mrs. Duncan. "I donna. If ye and me agree that a thing ought to be done, and I watch in your place, why, it's bound to be all right with Mr. McLean. Ought ye put on your Sabbath day clothes?"

Freckles shook his head. He knew what he had to do, but there was no use in taking time to try to explain it to Mrs. Duncan while he was so hurried.

He exchanged his wadded boots for shoes, gave her his club and went spinning toward town. He knew very well where the angel lived. He had passed her home many times, and he passed it again without even taking his eyes from the street, steering straight for her father's place of business.

Carrying the hat, Freckles passed a long line of clerks and at the door of the private office asked to see the proprietor. When he had waited a moment a tall, spare, keen-eyed man faced him and in brisk, nervous tones asked, "How can I serve you, sir?"

Freckles handed him the package and answered: "By delivering to your daughter this hat, which she was after leaving at my place the other day when she went off in a hurry. And by saying to her and the Bird Woman that I'm more thankful than I'll be having words to express for the brave thing they was doing for me. I'm McLean's Linberlost guard, sir."

CHAPTER XI.

THE MAN OF AFFAIRS.

"WHY don't you take it yourself?" questioned the man of affairs.

Freckles' clear gray eyes met those of the angel's father squarely, and he said, "If you were in my place would you take it to her yourself?"

"No, I would not," said that gentleman quickly.

"Then why ask why I did not?" came Freckles' lamblike query.

"Bless me!" said the angel's father. He stared at the package, then at the lifted chin of the boy and then at the package again and muttered, "Excuse me."

Freckles bowed.

"It would be favoring me greatly if you would deliver the hat and the message. Good morning, sir," and he turned away.

"One minute," said the angel's father. "Suppose I give you permission to return this hat in person and make your own acknowledgments."

Freckles stood one moment thinking intently, and then he lifted those eyes of unswerving truth and asked: "Why should you, sir? You are kind indeed to mention it, and it's thinking you I am for your good intentions, but my wanting to go or your being willing to have me isn't proving that your daughter would be wanting me or care to bother with me?"

The angel's father looked keenly into the face of this extraordinary young man, and he found it to his liking.

"There's one other thing I meant to say," said Freckles. "Every day I see something and at times a lot of things that I think the Bird Woman would be wanting pictures of badly if she knew. You might be speaking of it to her, and if she'd want me to I can send her word when I find things she wouldn't likely get elsewhere."

"If that's the case," said the angel's father, "and you feel under obligation for her assistance the other day you can discharge them in that way. She is spending all her time in the fields and woods searching for subjects. By all means let her know if you find subjects you think she could use, and we will do anything we could for you if you will give her what help you can and see that she is as safe as possible."

"It's hungry for human beings I get," said Freckles, "and it's like heaven to me to have them come. When it comes to protecting them I'd risk my life, to be sure, but even that mightn't do any good in some cases. There's a good many dangers to be reckoned with in the swamp, sir."

There was no way in which Freckles could know it, but by following his best instincts and being what he conceived a gentleman should be he surprised the man of affairs into thinking of him and seeing his face over his books many times that morning. He stepped to the curb to mount his wheel and heard a voice that thrilled through and through him, calling: "Freckles! Oh, Freckles!"

The angel separated herself from a group of girls and came hurrying up to him. She was in snowy white—a quaint little frock with a marvel of soft lace about her throat and wrists. Through the sheer sleeves of it her beautiful, rounded arms showed distinctly, and it was cut just to the base of her perfect neck. On her head was a pure white creation of fancy braid with folds on folds of tulle, soft and silken as cobwebs, lining the brim, and a great mass of white roses crested against the gold of her hair except about the crown and fell in a riot to her shoulders at the back. There were gleams of gold with settings of blue on her fingers, and altogether she was the faintest, sweetest sight he had ever seen.

"Oh, Freckles!" she cried. "I was wondering about you the other day. Is there any trouble? Are you just starting back to the Linberlost?"

"I came to bring your hat," said Freckles. "You forgot it in the rush the other day. I have just left it with your father and a message trying to express the gratitude of me for how you and the Bird Woman were for helping me out."

The angel nodded gravely, and Freckles saw in a flash that he had done the proper thing in going to her father. Then she was saying that she could scarcely wait for the time to come for the next picture of the Little Chickens series. "I want to hear the rest of that song, and I hadn't even begun seeing your room yet," she complained. "I wonder if I couldn't bring my bundle and some of the songs I like best. I'll play and you'll sing."

Freckles felt that if he lifted his eyes the adoration in them would frighten her.

"I was afraid your experience the other day would scare you so that you'd never be coming again," he found himself saying.

The angel laughed gayly.

"Did I look scared?" she questioned.

"No," said Freckles; "you did not."

"Oh, I just enjoyed that," she cried. "Those hateful, stealing old things! I had a big notion to pink one of them, but I thought maybe some way it would be best for you that I shouldn't. They needed it. That didn't scare me, much, as for the Bird Woman, she's accustomed to finding snakes, tramps, cross dogs, sheep, cattle and goodness knows what. You can't frighten her when she's after a picture. Did they come back?"

"No," said Freckles. "The gang got there a little after noon and took out the tree, but I must tell you and you must tell the Bird Woman that there's no doubt but they will be coming back, and they will have to make it before long now, for it's soon the gang will be there to work on the swamp."

"Oh, what a shame!" cried the angel. "They'll clear out roads, cut down the beautiful trees and tear up everything. They'll drive away the birds and spoil the cathedral. When they have done their worst all these miles about here will follow in and take out the cheap timber. Then the landowners will dig a few ditches, build some fences, and in two summers more the Linberlost will be in corn and potatoes."

"You like it, too," said Freckles.

"Yes," said the angel; "I love it. Your room is a little piece right out of the heart of fairyland, and the cathedral is God's work, not yours. You only found it and opened the door after he had it completed. Come get a cool drink before you start back. It won't take but a minute, and you can ride fast enough to make up for it."

Freckles looked into the beautiful face of the angel in sheer wonderment. Did she truly mean it? Would she, walk down that street with him, crippled, homely, in mean clothing?

"I really must be off," said Freckles earnestly, "but I'm thanking you more than you'll ever know for your kindness. I'll just be drinking bowls of ley things all my way home in the thoughts of it."

Down came the angel's foot. Her eyes flashed. "There's no sense in that," she said. "How do you think you would have felt when you knew I was warm and thirsty and you went and brought me a drink and I wouldn't take it because—because goodness knows why?"

She deliberately slipped her hand under his arm—the right arm (that ended in an empty sleeve).

"You are coming," she said firmly.

Freckles' head swam.

"Please don't, angel," he said softly.

"You must understand. If your father came on to me on the street in my station and dress with you on my arm he'd have every right to be coming before the people, and not a finger would I lift to stay him."

The angel's eyes snapped. "If you think my father cares about my doing anything that is right and kind and that makes me happy to do, why, then you completely failed in reading my father, and I'll ask him and just show you."

She dropped Freckles' arm and turned toward the entrance to the building. "Why, look there!" she exclaimed.

Her father stood at a window, watching the scene with eyes that comprehended quite as thoroughly as if he had heard every word. The angel made a despairing gesture toward Freckles. The man of affairs answered her with a look of infinite tenderness. He nodded his head, and the very next moment he had read the words his lips formed, "Take him along!"

A sudden trembling seized Freckles. The angel turned on him with triumphant eyes. She was highly strung and not accustomed to being thwarted. "Did you see that?" she demanded. "Now are you satisfied? Will you come?" Freckles went.

On every hand she was kept busy giving and receiving the cheeriest greetings. She walked into the parlors exactly as if she owned them. A long row of people stared with varying degrees of insolence and curiosity as Freckles had felt they would. He glanced at the angel. Now would she see?

"On my soul!" he muttered under his breath. "They don't even touch her!"

She turned the full battery of her eyes on the attendant.

"I want to mix a drink for my friend," she said. "He has a long, hot ride before him, and I don't want him started off with one of those old palate teasing sweetmeats that you mix just on purpose to drive a man back in ten minutes. I want a clear, cool, sparkling drink that has a tang of acid in it."

The angel compounded the drink and carried the brimming glass to Freckles. He said in the mellowness of all the mellow tones of his voice, "I'll be drinking it to the Swamp Angel."

And as he had said to her that first day the angel now cautioned him, "No drinking slowly."

As the screen door swung behind them one of the men at the counter asked of the attendant, "Now, what did that mean?"

"Exactly what you saw," replied he rather curtly. "We're accustomed to it in here. Hardly a day passes this hot weather but she's pleading up some poor, god-forsaken mortal and bringing him in. Then she comes behind the counter herself and fixes up a drink to suit the occasion."

"Mighty queer specimen she had this time," volunteered another. "Wonder who he is?"

"I think," said a third, "that he's McLean's Linberlost guard, and I suspect she's gone to the swamp with the Bird Woman for pictures and knows him that way."

Out on the street the angel walked beside Freckles to the first crossing, and there she stopped.

"Did you insist on fixing that drink because you knew how intoxicating 'twould be?" asked Freckles.

There was subtlety in the compliment, and the angel laughed gleefully.

"Next time maybe you won't take so much coaxing," she said.

"I wouldn't this if I had known your father and been understanding you better. Do you really think the Bird Woman will be coming again?"

The angel jeered. "Wild horses couldn't drag her away," she cried. "She will have hard work to wait the week out. I shouldn't be in the least surprised to see her start any hour."

Freckles couldn't bear the suspense; it had to come.

"And you?" he questioned, but he dared not lift his eyes.

"Wild horses me, too," she laughed, "couldn't keep me away either! Now, goodbye."

Freckles was half way to the Linberlost when he dismounted. He could ride no farther, because he could not see the road. He sat down under a tree and, leaning against it, burst into a storm of sobs that shook, twisted and rent him. If they would remind him of his position, speak condescendingly or notice his hand he could bear it, but this—it would surely kill him! His hot, pulsing Irish blood could not bear it. What did they mean? Why did they do it? Were they like that to every one? Was it pity?

The Birth of John the Baptist Foretold, Luke 1:5-23.

Golden Text—Without faith it is impossible to please him, Heb. xi:6.

(1) Verse 1—What significance is there in the fact, with respect to their children, when a man and wife are both of distinguished parentage?

(2) When a man seeks a wife, or a woman is considering before she accepts a husband, how much consideration should be given to the question of ancestry?

(3) Verse 2—It is stated that both Zacharias and Elisabeth were "righteous" and "blameless". What does that mean, and are there people living to-day of whom the same may be truthfully said?

(4) How much of the goodness of these people did they probably owe to heredity?

(5) Does God expect all His people to be "righteous" and "blameless" and if so, how may the average man fulfill God's expectation?

(6) Verse 7—Which is the greater blessing under present day conditions, a large or a small family, and why?

(7) Is it either folly, sin, or crime, for married people to arrange as to have a childless home, and why?

(8) Verses 8-10—What difference does it make in the spiritual or moral affect, when a minister conducts public worship, whether the people pray for him and the service or not?

(9) Verses 11-12—Angelic appearances are clearly recorded in the scriptures, what if any reason is there to believe that angels still appear?

(10) Scarcely many, if not most people believe that we are surrounded by spirits, why is it that so few of us have any actual demonstration of their presence?

(11) Would it be desirable or not, and why, for all Christians to be so conscious of the spiritual presence of their departed loved ones, as to communicate with them?

(12) Why was Zacharias afraid when he saw the angel, and why is it that most people are afraid of any appearance which looks like a "ghost"?

(13) Verses 13-14—It is true that "Heaven is all around us", have the people on earth any reason to fear spirits or angels? Give your reasons.

(14) Is it right, or wise, or of any use for people who have no children to pray for them?

(15) Is it God's intention that children in a home shall always bring "joy and gladness," and what is the way to make certain of this being realized?

(16) Verses 15-16—What reasons are there, for training children in total abstinence principles?

(17) Given the right parentage and training, may children in these days be filled with the Holy Ghost from their birth?

(18) Why may, or may not, any devout mother so plan before and after the birth of her child, so he will be filled with the Holy Spirit from birth?

(19) Verses 18-23—Why had Gabriel any right to blame and punish John for doubting such an extraordinary promise? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Little Bed-Time Tales

By EDITH HAVENS

Cocoons

WHAT on earth could Claire and Arthur play? Day after day during the long summer vacation they had played everything that had ever been known to them, and now they wanted something new.

"We played house yesterday," said Claire, as she sat down on the grass by Arthur's side. He did not answer her.

Then Claire became silent and perhaps they would have been sitting there if a beautiful yellow butterfly had not come flying by.

He fluttered and sailed along close over the grass tops, and then swooping upward gracefully alighted on the soft face of a delicate pink rose in the garden close by.

Claire watched him.

Arthur had not seen him yet.

As Claire watched, the butterfly sailed up into the air and paid a visit to the Hollyhock. Then a thought flashed through Claire's mind and she jumped up with a shout.

"What's the matter?" asked Arthur, sitting up.

"Oh, I have a new game," she said, dancing about. "It will be great fun. We will play butterfly."

"Butterfly—how can you play but-

And then we will make believe that we are butterflies.

Arthur became excited at once and he agreed it would be lots of fun. And then they started to play.

First they played that they were caterpillars and for some time they crawled about on the ground looking for choice leaves to eat. Then they played they were very sleepy and crawling over under the lilac bush they pretended to weave cocoons, finally covering their heads with their coats.

"They were now sleeping through the long winter."

"Do you think that we will be butterflies soon?" whispered Arthur very softly.

"Oh, yes, I feel like flying already," answered Claire, and then of a sudden they threw off their coats, and ran dancing about over the grass, moving their arms up and down in a funny way. They hopped from flower to flower, burying their noses deep down into little flower hearts, inhaling the rare fragrance. And thus they played.

"Wasn't it fun?" said Claire at supper time.

"Great!" answered Arthur. "We will play it again tomorrow."

And they did.

BY WALT MASON

I breathe abuses and unctions when I must go and pay my taxes. I know it's not the proper spirit, I know, and it isn't near it; I ought to smile seraphic, and say: "I like TAXES—this sort of traffic." I ought to greet the tax collector with joy—not chew the rag and hector and say his course is simply pillage; I should be glad to help the village and pony in my dimes and cents to pay legitimate expenses. My fathers died and died for freedom and other boons—they thought I'd need 'em—and I'm an army and triffing I feel myself just fairly aching with wrath when I come wealth on burning to keep the country's wheels turning! Let common life round me assemble and my firm nerves shall never tremble! I'll view them with a glance heroic, the men of Spartan or of Stolic, but hear me whoop for battle when I must go and pay my taxes!

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE HOT-AIR FURNACE.

By Howard L. Ramm.

The hot-air furnace is a specimen of the devil's handiwork which is usually installed by a cross-eyed plumber who lost his conscience in early youth. This device has caused more men to discard the plots of their childhood than any other article of furniture in the home, unless it is the spring lock folding bed, which is liable to close up on a lean relative and make him look like an autumn leaf in the family hills. The hot-air furnace never makes anybody's position when it wants to go out for the night. You can shower it with affection and $100 before it retires and the chances are that it will reward you by filling the home with pale blue gas and strangle itself to death about 2 a. m. Many a tired citizen has come home on a windy night and looked into the pallid features of a hot-air furnace which has choked itself into an untimely grave by trying to inhale a nut coal clinker. The hot-air register in a northwest bedroom is the plumber's little joke, and the man who tries to force heat into it in the face of a head wind has about as much show of success as a girl graduate who enters a declamatory contest with a piece of chewing gum and an impediment in her speech. The hot-air furnace has an appetite that would make a harvest hand look like Dr. Thurner rounding the three-quarter pole. No one ever saw a hot-air furnace back away from the table and loosen the top button of its trousers with a detached air. If you feed it coal stick into the home circle, and if you dose it with premium egg it will go through a large and luscious income like a hired man through a cream pie. It is a very vicious and unmy article of virtue.

Attributes of Great Soldier.

The greatest general is he who knows when to retreat and dares to do it.

Avoiding Temptation.

What you ought not to do, do not think about doing.—Pythagoras.

Explanation of Colors of Leaves.

In extremely moist atmosphere, the color of the leaves are not usually very bright, as in England. And in very dry climates the leaves dry up suddenly, and their skin, which is very thick to prevent the escape of moisture, is not sufficiently transparent to allow the color to be seen beneath. In regions where the autumn foliage is most vivid we find that an average season produces the most exquisite colors. Neither a very dry nor a very wet summer will result in much brilliancy.

Merely an Incident.

Mr. Farwest—"I met my old schoolmate, Lakeside, today, for the first time in an age, and I thought from the way he acted when I mentioned you, that you and he must have had some romance or other before we met."

Mrs. Farwest—"No romance about it. We were married for a few years, that's all."—New York Weekly.

LANDS

ADVERTISEMENTS—In placing your ad three things must be considered—circulation, class of readers and price. The Reporter gives you ad greater measure of service for less money than any other newspaper in Northern Iowa. The Reporter is read by 30,000 people every issue. Advertising rates one-half cent a word, each insertion. Cash with order. Reporter, Waterloo, Iowa. 45-41

ADVERTISERS—The great state of North Dakota, offers unlimited opportunities for business to classified advertisers. The recognized advertising medium is the Fargo Daily and Sunday Courier-News, the only seven day paper in the state and the paper which carries the largest amount of classified advertising. The Courier-News covers North Dakota like a blanket; reaching all parts of the state the day of publication; it is the paper to use in order to get results. Rates: one cent per word per line per insertion; one-half cent per word per line per month. Address: The Courier-News, Fargo, N. D. 20-41

FIND LAND BUYERS through advertising in the Daily Journal-World, Lawrence, Kansas. The farm lands about Lawrence are the best in Kansas and therefore are high priced. Young farmers are looking for cheap farms. The Daily Journal-World has a sworn circulation of 5,500, about half of which is in the country and carries a full page of Want Ads. Rates, 10 per word 1 time, 3 1/2 per word for one week. The World Company, Lawrence, Kansas. 08-41

ADVERTISEMENTS—The Hutchinson Daily News, with guaranteed average circulation of 9,233 for the month of April, 1911, affords the best advertising medium in Hutchinson. Population 10,772, and the Arkansas Valley (the Garden Spot of the World). Rate 1 cent per word, per insertion, cash with the order. News, Hutchinson, Kansas. 47-41

IF IT IS A FARM you want to sell or trade, or real estate you want to get action on, there is but one paper in the southwestern part of Nebraska that reaches the people you want to do business with, and that is the Hastings (Nebr.) Tribune, daily, weekly.

IF YOU ARE interested in real estate in the Northwest you will do well to place an ad in the Want Columns of the Aberdeen Daily News, Aberdeen, S. D., the best advertising medium in this territory. Read every day; 1 cent per word, first insertion, special rate by the week or month. Write for sample copy. 45-41

FARMS FOR SALE—Southwest Iowa is one of the richest agricultural districts in the world and the Daily Nonpareil is practically the only daily paper read in this territory. It is issued morning, evening and Sunday, and with its 17,000 circulation covers the field like a blanket. If you want results from your advertisement, try it. One cent a word for the first insertion, and one-half cent a word for each subsequent insertion. Classified in display, 25c an inch. The Daily Nonpareil, Council Bluffs, Iowa. 45-41
